

Overview

BCA Research Proprietary Indicators provide insight into the frameworks that our strategists use to inform their investment recommendations. These indicators are now available to all BCA Research clients to help shape your investment conviction, identify new opportunities/risks and forge your investment views.

Description

- Proprietary Indicators are derived from groups of historical data series which have been processed and analyzed over extended periods of time.
 - The indicators are used by our team of strategists to help guide them in their analysis of financial markets
 - Each indicator will be updated based on the frequency of the underlying data source
 - BCA currently uses over 300,000 data sets for our insights analysis, including the creation of our proprietary indicators
- Proprietary Indicators can be combined seamlessly with our written research to amplify macro insights and recommended market actions
- Proprietary Indicators provide signals that can alert professional investors to changes in asset allocation, risk and the identification of opportunities
- Proprietary Indicators will be delivered via Excel Add-in and will come with pre-made templates, which are fully customizable to your needs. Future releases of the Proprietary Indicators solution will include an API and Secure FTP delivery.

Product Packages

BCA Research Proprietary Indicators are sold in six packages. Each package can be purchased à la carte or the entire family of indicators is available for a discounted cost.
